

Company Profile and Job Description

About us:

Quantiphi is a category defining Data Science and Machine Learning Software and Services Company focused on helping organizations translate the big promise of Machine Learning technologies into quantifiable business impact. We were founded on the belief that machine learning and artificial intelligence are transformative technologies that will create the next quantum gain in customer experience and unit economics of businesses. We are one of the five global partners for Google in Machine Learning.

For more details visit: <http://www.quantiphi.com/>

Designation: Technical Lead – Full stack

Work Location: Mumbai, Malad (W)

Experience: 4-10 Years

Job Description:

Responsible for developing, enhancing, modifying and/or maintaining applications in the Global Markets environment. Software developers design, code, test, debug and document programs well as support activities for the corporate systems architecture. You are required to work closely with business partners in defining requirements for system applications. You must typically have in-depth knowledge of development tools and languages. You are also responsible for day to day supervision for a small team of associates; provide coaching and input into the performance management process.

Essential Skills:

- Experience working with scalable, high-performance systems.
- Experience in Chatbot development, API integration, Application deployment.
- Front end – Angular / ReactJS / jQuery
- Backend – Python / NodeJS
- Application Security
- Familiarity in Unix/Linux development environments & tools including scripting & process management.
- Strong problem-solving ability.

- The ability or potential to multitask, prioritize
- Experience in designing system architecture for solving complex problems.
- Experience in Test Driven Development & Agile methodologies.
- Experience of working in Agile environment is a plus.
- Strong understanding of database design; Experience of NoSQL databases is a plus.
- Experience of using tools like git, Jira, confluence is a plus.
- Passion for technology and solving real-life customer problems using technology.
- Hunger for learning
- Good communication skill.
- A team player who can collaborate with all stakeholders with strong interpersonal skills.
- Self-starter with a drive to technically mentor your cohort of developers